Howard R. Bowen is currently R. Stanton Avery Professor of Economics and Education at the Claremont Graduate School and one of America's leading scholars on the financing of higher education. Dr. Bowen taught economics at the University of Iowa and Williams College. From 1942 to 1945 he was chief economist for the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of the U.S. Congress. In 1945 he became an economist for the Irving Trust Company in New York City. He returned to academia in 1947 as Dean of the College of Commerce and Business Administration at the University of Illinois. From 1955 to 1974 Dr. Bowen served as president or chancellor of Grinnell College, University of Iowa, and the Claremont University Graduate Center. He has been president of the American Finance Association, The American Association for Higher Education, Association for the Study of Higher Education, and the Western Economic Association. Dr. Bowen is a member of the National Academy of Education and is a recipient of numerous honorary degrees and awards, including a special citation for leadership by the National Council of Independent Colleges and Universities. In 1975, he was selected as one of the "top 40 leaders" in American higher education (see CHANGE, February 1975, p.27). Dr. Bowen's long and distinguished career as a scholar, teacher, and university administrator makes this bibliography of special interest to anyone seeking background material relative to the development of fiscal policy in higher education.
